

Miss Balù Philippe Starck

Miss Balù is a modern interpretation of the quintessential 1800s table with central support leg. This is a complete collection of tables for different uses, both indoor and outdoor. Research into and use of a new plastic compound also guarantees resistance to abrasions as well as optimum product life. The table series is proposed in three models: the square table (easy to install thanks to its straight cut edges) and round table, both of small dimensions, are ideal as dressing tables in the bedroom, or as desks in the entrance hall; the large round table can be used in the kitchen as a dining table.
